High-level events for S'pore airshow

The 2012 Singapore Airshow, which will be held from February 14 to 19, will integrate high-level conferences and business forums that aim to chart the way forward by tackling the challenges facing the aviation industry. These include conferences such as the Singapore Airshow Aviation Leadership Summit (Saals) and the Asia Pacific Security Conference (Apsec). The theme for Saals (Feb 12-13) is 'Driving Change, Overcoming Challenges Together'. Meanwhile, Apsec (Feb 12-13) will gather senior executives from the aerospace and defence industries to study strategic issues shaping peace and security across the globe. In addition, organiser Experia Events is also bringing back Business Forums (February 15-16), which will provide both visitors and exhibitors insights into purchasing trends and strategies for major markets such as China, India and South-east Asia. To be held at the Changi Exhibition Centre, the Airshow — which will centre around the theme 'Building Businesses' — will be attended by industry players as well as thought leaders from the government, the military and academia.
